LEMAR WOMAN IS BANISHED

Did not Have Money to Buy Ticket and so it was Provided. Spent
Night in Jail, her Bail not being Considered Acceptable.

After spending the night in jail, "Miss Frances LeMar", one of the principals in the affair at the Lincoln Way Hotel Thursday morning, was ordered to leave the town after a hearing this morning before Squire Hill. District Attorney Wible and Chief of Police Emmons were present before the Squire and agreed to this disposition of the case.

"Miss LeMar" could not furnish bail that was satisfactory to the justice of the peace, and late Thursday afternoon she was placed in jail to await a disposition of her case this morning. When she was told that the charge against her would be dropped if she would leave town "Miss LeMar" said that she had no money with which to buy a ticket but that, if she could secure employment, she would be perfectly willing to go to work.

The authorities were not satisfied with this solution, and during the morning a man was found who agreed to furnish her with dinner and a ticket to Baltimore, which is said to be her home. She left at 3:44 this afternoon.

"Miss LeMar" was suffering a great deal of pain from the arm which was broken in an automobile accident near Westminster last week. She said that she removed the splints too soon and, after her release this morning, she was sent to the office of the county physician to have the arm treated. During her stay here she did not reveal her identity.

John Walter, who was arrested on a charge of assault and battery, following an attack on his wife when she discovered him in company with the "LeMar" woman, is out under $500 bail to await the action of the grand jury.

Proprietor Lynch, of the Lincoln Way Hotel, regrets greatly the occurrence at his hostelry and says that no one about the place knew of Walter's presence in the building. He states that Walter had gotten in without the knowledge of any of the employees and that they are not responsible for the affair having taken place.

DEATH SEPARATES DEVOTED VETERANS

Met at Gettysburg Twice in their Lives, Became Fast Friends and were Inseparable during Past Eighteen Months.

A friendship formed at Gettysburg in 1863, and renewed at the time of the great anniversary fifty years later, was broken Wednesday night when Timothy H. Edwards, a Confederate veteran died at the home of his daughter in Baltimore. Mr. Edwards was one of Pickett's men and, at the time of the charge, fell into the hands of members of the 125th New York.

After the excitement of the charge had cleared away, and order was in part restored, Edwards was picked up by William P. Hagadorn, of the New York Regiment, which was stationed on Hancock avenue, just south of the Bryan House. An immediate friendship sprang up between friend and foe, and they spent as much time together as conditions immediately following the battle would allow. This was very short at best, the movements of the troops taking the New Yorkers on their way.

Neither of the two veterans heard of each other for a full half century but both were here for the anniversary in July 1863, and each came with the express purpose of finding out whether or not the other was alive. Great was their joy when they met, and they were inseparable during the time of the celebration. So deep did their friendship for each other become that Mr. Edwards, who was at that time living elsewhere, decided to make his home in Baltimore that he might enjoy the association of Mr. Hagadorn, and for several years he has been living with his daughter.

The story of the two men was well known in Baltimore where it was a rare thing to see the one without the other. They spent most of their time together recounting the days and deeds of the Civil War. Mr. Hagadorn was greatly grieved when he was told of his friend's death.

Mr. Edwards' body was taken to Lancaster and interment was made in White Marsh Cemetery, that city, this morning.

SETTLE ESTATE BY ARBITRATION

Emmitsburg Residents Leave Distribution of Ninety Thousand Dollar Estate to Judgment of Three Men. An Unusual Arrangement.

The settlement of an estate of nearly $90,000 by arbitration and award, was accomplished in the estate of the late James T. Hayes, of near Emmitsburg, who died intestate in April, 1912, and over whose estate litigation was developing. The three judges of the Orphans Court of Frederick County, John C. Castle, Albert W. Ecker and John W. Mumford, were agreed upon by the parties to act as the arbitrators, and the opinion filed by them is a lengthy one.

It is understood that the Hayes estate is now ready for distribution and nearly $90,000 will shortly be paid out by administrator, Thomas C. Hayes.

The opinion of the arbitrators states that James T. Hayes died intestate leaving Thomas C. Hayes, Lizzie R. Snively and Sarah W. Gilson as his only children and heirs-at-law. Letters of administration were granted to Thomas C. Hayes, who filed inventories and also filed a claim against the estate for money claimed to be due him for the half interest of himself in the late partnership of James T. Hayes and Son, and for cash paid by him for three shares of the common stock of the Consolidated Gas, Electric Light and Power Company of Baltimore city. To this claim Lizzie R. Snively filed objections and also filed a petition charging the administrator with concealment of assets and not filing complete inventories.

The claim filed by Thomas C. Hayes against his father's estate was for $24,800 and was filed on March 24, 1914. He claimed it was his share of the business in which he and his father were engaged.

Testimony was taken and it was agreed on December 9, 1914, the estate should be settled according to equity and right. The Orphans' Court judges were named to act as arbitrators for the final settlement.

In making their report the arbitrators find that the son is entitled to half interest in the firm, whose assets are said to amount to over $60,400. The arbitrators exonerate the son from concealing any of the assets of his father.

The disposition of the estate is announced in detail by the arbitrators. According to the report, it is valued at $87,504.26. Thomas C. Hayes receives one-half of the store business, as his share under the partnership with his father, and also receives one-third of the remainder of the estate.

THAW DEFENDS HIS ESCAPE

Testifies in Own Behalf at Conspiracy Trial.

ARRANGED FOR ESCAPE

Declares He Had Come to Believe It
Was Impossible to "Get Out by Legal Means."

New York, March 12.—Harry K. Thaw took the witness stand to testify in his own behalf in his trial for conspiracy, with four others, in his escape from Matteawan asylum.

John B. Stanchfield, chief of Thaw's counsel, told the jury he placed Thaw on the stand to prove there was no conspiracy. "The whole plan was Thaw's," said Mr. Stanchfield. "The men indicted with him he had never seen until that Sunday morning. They were not conspirators. They were employees of Thaw. The men didn't help Thaw out of the gate. He walked out. The sole function of the man was to assist Thaw after he himself had effected his escape."

"I want you to listen carefully to what he says, for I shall later offer evidence corroborating what he says about what he thought would happen to him if he remained in Matteawan," Thaw testified in a loud, clear voice and kept his eyes directly upon Mr. Stanchfield. In reply to questions, he said: "There were three writs of habeas corpus upon which I appeared in court. None of the writs had a jury trial. I was told, however, I might have had a jury trial the last time had my counsel requested it." Thaw then told of the times he had left Matteawan and when he had gone.

"What was the insane population of Matteawan in 1913?" asked Mr. Stanchfield. "About 800 or 900," replied Thaw.

In reply to other questions, Thaw said: "By August, 1913, I had come to believe that it would be an impossibility for me to get out by legal means. I was informed that the methods by which people usually got out would be successful in my case."

Thaw then said he slept in a ward with a score or more of persons who were insane. "When they would become violent," he went on, "they were put in straight jackets." The prosecution's objection to that line was sustained.

Considerable time was devoted by Thaw's attorneys to questions relating to his incarceration at Matteawan and his duties there. He kept the records in the storeroom at the asylum, he said.

"And what was done with these?" "One account was kept at Matteawan and the other sent to Albany," he said.

"This was the only record of details of that institution?" "Yes," Mr. Stanchfield was trying to bring out that Thaw was regarded at the asylum as being sane enough to keep the records for the institution.

"Did you believe that unless you obtained your release you would become the same as those unfortunate inmates?" "Yes."

Previous to August, 1913, Thaw said he had talked with a former district attorney of Cleveland of his right to leave Matteawan.

Thaw said he had arranged for two automobiles in which to make his escape in case one of the machines broke down. The arrangements were made with one of his agents, a man named Hoffman. He fixed the day as Aug. 17 and the hour a little before 8 o'clock.

"On the 17th of August did you believe yourself to be sane?" "I did." "When you walked out of that open gate did you intend to commit a crime?" "I did not. I was very careful not to commit a crime. I was told I could leave and I did not know it was a crime."

Thaw said he did not know his co-defendants until he met them on the day of his escape. He said he expected to go to Canada, then to Detroit, then to Pittsburgh. He wanted to avoid New York state, as he had been advised that his commitment to Matteawan would not act against him outside of the Empire State.

ADVANCE OF BRITISH MAY RECOVER LILLE

Capture Town Near La Bassee and Trenches.

London, March 12.—An official statement says that the British advance in France was of three-quarters of a mile along a front of 4000 yards, all of the intervening positions being taken. Four British army corps, of 100,000 men, were engaged in the battle.

Paris reports that the forward movement carried out by the British resulted in the capture of nearly a mile and a half of trenches, and confirms the capture of the village of Neuve Chapelle.

This advance, including the taking of 1000 prisoners and several machine guns, makes it the most considerable advance reported from the north of France for several months past.

This advance, if made in force, is strategically of great importance, as the position commands the road between La Bassee and Lille. It makes the German hold on La Bassee insecure and gives a base for operations for the straightening of the allied lines in front of Lille.

This advance was unexpected, as lately the principal activity reported from the British front has been in the direction of the other end of the line near Ypres. The British are now within two miles of the furthest point gained by General Sir Horace L. Smith-Dorrien last October, when, with one army corps (40,000 men) in an effort to gain Fournes, on the road between La Bassee and Lille, he forced his way as far as Abbeville, two miles to the northeast of Neuve Chapelle, but after desperate fighting against tremendous odds was forced to retire.

Considerable time was devoted by Thaw's attorneys to questions relating to his incarceration at Matteawan and his duties there. He kept the records in the storeroom at the asylum, he said.

MORE TURK FORTS SILENCED

Allies' Fleet Continue Destruction of Forts in the Dardanelles.

London, March 12.—The silencing of more Turkish guns on the Asiatic side of the Dardanelles narrows, by the Anglo-French fleet, was announced in dispatches received from Athens.

These stated that hidden batteries lying between Kephez and Chanak had been put out of commission by projectiles from the heavy guns up-bored the warships.

Aviators who made an aerial reconnaissance over the waterway reported that a big eat of transports had passed through the Sea of Marmora, making it apparent that the Turkish army on the Gallipoli peninsula was being reinforced.

PRINZ EITEL WON'T INTERNE

The Captain Explains Sinking of Newport News, Va., March 12.—Captain Thierichsen, of the Prinz Eitel Friedrich, formally informed Collector of Customs Hamilton that it was not his intention to intern his vessel, and that unless the United States refuses to grant him the necessary time for repairs and restrains him, the converted cruiser will attempt to continue its voyage of adventure.

The German officer sent this notice to the collector after the neutrality demands of the United States had been presented by Collector Hamilton on board the Eitel Friedrich.

The German officer's communication declared that it was his intention to dock immediately and undergo inspection. He would then request the government to grant him only such time as it declared would be necessary to complete the work.

This was followed a few minutes later by the Prinz Eitel Friedrich leaving her anchorage in Hampton Roads and slowly steaming up to the dry dock where application was made for permission to enter the dock and make repairs.

Commander Thierichsen agreed to deliver in writing to the American government, through the collector of the port at Newport News, his explanations and reasons for sinking in the South Atlantic ocean the American sailing ship William P. Frye.

He also agreed, after Collector of Customs Hamilton had boarded the Prinz Eitel and submitted the neutrality requirements of the Washington government, to communicate an estimate of the time required to repair his ship, at the same time stating that it was not his desire to intern the vessel, but to proceed as soon as repairs made her seaworthy.

To the request of the Washington government that he land the crews of captured and sunken vessels and such passengers as could comply with immigration regulations, the German commander gave assent.

The crew of the American ship William P. Frye was landed and arrangements were made for taking off the crews of British, French and Russian ships sunk in southern seas. The Eitel Friedrich herself steamed into the shipbuilding yard and went into dry dock, where experts began an examination of her condition.

When the crew of the Frye had been landed they were taken to the custom house and made sworn statements of the circumstances attending the sinking of the ship on Jan. 23 last, off the River Plate.

Collector Hamilton took the statements and also prepared a joint summary of conditions, which the members of the crew signed, to be forwarded to Washington. They were not made public.

"There was no conflict of testimony by the members of the crew as to the circumstances surrounding the destruction of the Frye," said Mr. Hamilton. "All were in line with the details given by Captain Kiehne, master of the ship, who has said that his ship was blown up with her cargo of wheat for Queenstown, after the crew had been warned to board the German cruiser."

All but two members of the Frye's crew left the Prinz Eitel. They were German subjects, Charles Frank and Robert Rogge, who were held by Commander Thierichsen because of eligibility for service in German arms. These men made no request to come to American soil, willingly remaining on board the Prinz Eitel, and were pressed into service.

LEGISLATORS VOTE TO QUIT ON MAY 6

The House Adopts Adjournment Resolution.

Harrisburg, Pa., March 12.—The house, by a vote of 137 to 19, adopted a resolution, in which the senate is asked to concur, fixing May 6, at noon, as the time for the legislature to adjourn sine die.

The resolution will go to the senate next Monday evening, but what action the members of the upper branch will take is problematical.

Richard J. Baldwin, of Delaware county, "sprung" the May 6 adjournment resolution on the house when 49 of the 207 members were absent, a majority of the absentees having gone to their homes.

Some were disposed to construe the adoption of the Baldwin resolution as a covert "attack" on Governor Brumbaugh's legislative program, but others saw nothing more significant in the vote than a desire of the house members to "speed up" the legislature. The view that the May 6 resolution was "aimed" at the administration, and that it was "inspired" by Republican organization leaders was strengthened by the fact that Speaker Ambler and members close to the governor opposed and voted against fixing a date for adjourning.

When Governor Brumbaugh learned that the house had asked the senate to agree to May 6 as the time for "putting on the lid," he observed: "If we are through with our important legislation by that time I will be glad to have the legislature adjourn. I hope they will be through before May 6. It is merely a matter of the speed with which the legislative works. I believe the important measures under consideration could be acted upon by the date suggested."

Aside from the reports of officers, the address of James Foust, the Pennsylvania pure food commissioner, featured the session.

The delegates will discuss several important pieces of pending legislation and elect officers.

Japan Modifies Demands.

Pekin, March 12.—At the conference between representatives of Japan and China, concerning the demands made upon China by Japan, and presented at Pekin shortly after the Japanese occupation of Kiao-Chau, the Japanese delegates showed a conciliatory attitude. Oil Treatment for Stomach Troubles

A simple prescription made up of a combination of pure vegetable oils is producing wonderful results for sufferers from stomach, liver and intestinal troubles. The remedy, which is said to have originated in France, where it has been used for years by the peasantry, was introduced into this country by George H. Mayr, a leading Chicago druggist, who cured himself of severe stomach, liver and intestinal troubles by its use. Those who have used it say the first dose is sufficient to convince any one of its remarkable merit, and that within twenty-four hours the sufferer feels like a new person. This medicine, which has become known as Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, is sold by leading druggists everywhere with the positive understanding that your money will be refunded without question or quibble if ONE bottle fails to give you absolute satisfaction.

By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.

Gray hair, however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks dry, wispy and scraggly, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the tonic at home or get from any drug store a 50 cent bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Hair Remedy." Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully and removes dandruff, stops scalp itching and falling hair; besides, no one can possibly tell, as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. CARRANZA WARNS ALIENS TO LEAVE

Pledges Protection in Mexico
Where He Can Give It.

REBUKES U. S. FOR NOTE

First Chief Declares Untrue Charges
That Obregon Incited Disturbances at the Capital.

Washington, March 12. — General Venustiano Carranza, in answer to the protest addressed to him by Secretary of State Bryan, through United States Consul Silliman, regarding conditions in the City of Mexico, addressed a reply to President Wilson personally.

He denies the responsibility of the Constitutionalists for a situation that is considered alarming for foreigners, but expresses the hope that Americans and citizens of other countries will lose no time in departing from Mexico until tranquility shall be restored.

The Constitutional chief pledges himself to provide every facility for the exodus which he recommends. He suggests that if foreign residents do not desire to leave the country they should seek safer places in the republic.

General Carranza declares that he always has tried to safeguard the interests of Americans and other foreigners and intends to continue this course.

The charges that General Obregon has deliberately fostered disturbances in Mexico City are denied by Carranza, who declares that every possible effort has been made to distribute food supplies. He contends that the present situation has been aggravated by the conduct of merchants, who have protested against the imposition of a humanitarian relief tax.

Embodied in the reply is a plea that the United States hesitate to take steps embarrassing for both that country and this.

Spanish Ambassador Riano informed the state department that four Spaniards had been assassinated in Mexico City, and present reports of the looting and burning of private residences in the outskirts. He made no specific request for action.

Secretary Bryan said he was working at Mexico City and Vera Cruz for speedy admission of supplies to the Mexican capital. Assurances were received from General Carranza that foreigners would be allowed to use the railroad as soon as the evacuation was completed. It is understood that he was encouraging them to withdraw and go to a place of safety.

A message received in New York by a news agency, direct from Mexico City, stated that General Obregon had evacuated the republic's capital.

WHITE HOUSE BARS CALLERS

President Wilson Will Devote Three Weeks to Questions of State.

Washington, March 12.—Announcement was made at the White House that because of the pressing character of the Mexican and other international questions, President Wilson would see no callers, other than government officials, for the next three weeks.

The president wants to take personal charge of the negotiations over neutral shipping and with the Mexican factions.

President Wilson assured Senator-elect Phelan, of California, that he was very hopeful that he would be able to visit the Panama-Pacific Exposition at San Francisco later this year.

FIND BODY IN SEWER

Head Severed From Mutilated Remains of a Man.

New York, March 12.—The ablest detectives of this city were rushed to Brooklyn to solve a new murder mystery that developed from the finding of the head and torso of a man in a sewer there.

The head was found in the sewer at Tenth avenue and Forty-fifth street. This resulted in a further search of the sewer, and the torso was found a block away.

The head was identified through dental work as that of Rufus A. Dunham, a collector, who disappeared last year.

U. S. Guards Diplomats.

Washington, March 12.—Policemen whose beats include the embassies of Great Britain, Russia, Germany, Austria, France and Turkey, received instructions to keep closer watch on the embassies. No formal order was issued, according to the police authorities, but the men were cautioned at roll call to spend as much time as possible near the headquarters of the diplomats. No reason was assigned for the instructions.

THOUGHTS FOR MANUFACTURERS.

Your consumers—the people—read newspapers.

The retailers—your distributors—read the newspapers.

When the retailers want to advertise they use the newspapers.

If you asked them where you should advertise, they would answer—the newspapers.

Newspaper advertising not only creates specific consumer demand for goods, but it inspires the retailer to push the goods.

It links the push and the pull.

National manufacturers in search of specific information are invited to address the Bureau of Advertising, American Newspaper Publishers Association, World Building, New York.

PUT SULPHUR ON AN ITCHING SKIN AND END ECZEMA

Says this old-time Eczema remedy is applied like cold cream.

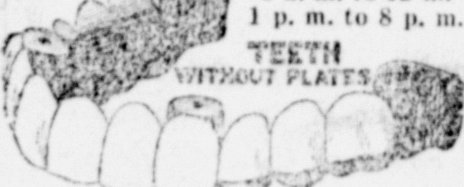

Any irritation or breaking out on the face, arms, legs or body when accompanied by itching, or when the skin is dry and feverish, can be readily overcome by applying a little bold-sulphur, says a noted dermatologist.

He states that bold-sulphur instantly allays the angry itching and irritation and soothes and heals the Eczema right up leaving the skin clear and smooth. Bold-sulphur has occupied a secure position for many years in the treatment of cutaneous disorders because of its parasite-destroying property. Nothing has ever been found to take its place in treating the irritable and inflammatory skin affections. While not always establishing a permanent cure it never fails to subdue the itching irritation and drive the Eczema away and it is often years later before any eruption again appears on the skin.

Those troubled should obtain at any drug store an ounce of bold-sulphur, which is applied to the affected parts in the same manner as an ordinary cold cream.

The Mocking Bird Girl

By F. A. MITCHEL

One afternoon in April while on a visit to Washington I was sitting on a bench in one of the parks. The leaves were half blown, and among them birds were twittering. One little songster in a tree above my head was now and again giving two melodious notes, the first higher than the second. Then suddenly just behind me these notes were repeated by a human voice, followed by a girl's laugh. I cannot say which was the more musical, the imitation of the bird's piping or the laugh. I turned and saw three girls, all with their backs toward me, moving away.

Cupid had many arrows in his quiver, but there is one, called fancy, that he uses more than all the others. At any rate he had let drive at me with such an arrow and pierced my heart. I had been caught by the trifling incident that I have mentioned and was enamored of the girl who had mocked a bird and laughed. I fancied her the embodiment of feminine mischief; her smile between dimples was doubtless expressive of that melodious laugh, and her eyes laughed as well as her lips and her voice.

Had I been a trifle less fanciful and more practical I would have arisen and hurried after the girls to get a view of the one who had bewitched me. But by the time I became aroused to the situation it was too late. I went after them, but the park was full of people, and they were lost in the crowd.

A few evenings later I was attending a reception at the White House. I was standing near the opening to the conservatory with a married lady to whom I was indebted for invitations. Suddenly from within the conservatory I heard the musical laugh that had charmed me. But unfortunately high growing plants were between me and the person who laughed, and I could not see her.

I would have given all I possessed if I could have left my companion and hurried around what screened the girl I longed to see. But no. Conventionality held me. To leave a woman standing alone at a function would be unpardonable. And what excuse could I make for such an act? Could I say: "Madame, pardon me. There is a mocking bird girl behind those palms with whom I am enthralled. I must leave you to go to her?" Such a course would be to commit social suicide, for I have observed that of all the women in society the most sensitive to the attention shown them are those who have husbands. I remained at my post, but heaven knows what it cost me to do so. Later I would have tried to find her, but how could I do so never having seen her face?

The next time I heard my mocking bird laugh I was at the capitol, up in a gallery under the dome. Directly below me walked a man, a woman and a girl. I could see the tops of their heads and shoulders, but nothing more. Then up came the laugh. It was the same I had heard twice before. I would know it among a thousand.

I was tempted to jump down fifty or a hundred feet and land before my charmer. Instead, I turned and ran down the stairs so fast that I fell and when I tried to rise found it impossible to do so. I had broken my leg. I cursed my fate for many reasons, but the principal one was that I must give up hope of ever finding my charmer--that is, if she was a stranger in Washington. If not, I would remain there as long as I lived in order to find her.

I did not get the use of my leg again till July, and then it was too hot to remain in one of the hottest cities in America. I would have done so, but I didn't believe the girl I was looking for would be there. With a heavy heart I went northward.

In October I returned to prosecute my search. I accepted all the invitations I received, hoping to meet my mocking bird girl. I was doomed to disappointment. Everywhere I went I listened and never heard a girl laugh that I did not feel a pang because it was not the one I longed to hear. I was introduced to many girls, but none of them could fill the gap in my heart.

One evening I was assigned to take a certain young lady out to dinner. She was very pretty. Her eye was liquid, her smile flanked by dimples. I passed a delightful period chatting with her, for there was between us that wireless something which tells two persons that they like each other. I parted with her under the impression that she might make me forget my laugh girl.

I met this young lady again and asked permission to call. It was granted, and during the first evening I spent at her home I made a discovery. She began to play the piano, and this set a canary bird in another room to singing. "I once heard a girl," I remarked, "imitate a bird to perfection." "I can do that," she said and straightway reproduced some of the canary's notes. Whether it was the expression on my face or what it was I know not, but she laughed.

I sprang toward her and took both her hands in mine.

"I've been hunting you since last April!" I exclaimed. "I heard you imitate a bird in the park and laugh. That laugh made me your slave forever."

And I spoke the realistic truth. We have been married ten years, and I have never yet had my way in a single instance.

Medical Advertising WHAT CAUSES COLDS?

This question and "How to Prevent Colds" is asked a thousand times every day. A cold is really a fever, not always caused by the weather but due to a disordered condition of the blood or lack of important food-elements. In changing seasons fat-foods are essential because they distribute heat by enriching the blood and so render the body better able to withstand the varying elements.

This is the underlying reason why the medicinal fats in Scott's Emulsion quickly overcome colds and build strength to prevent more serious sickness. It contains nature's medicinal fats, so skillfully prepared that the blood profits from every drop, and it is free from harmful drugs or alcohol.

Tuxedo

The Perfect Tobacco for Pipe and Cigarette

The reason Tuxedo's so healthful, wholesome and beneficial is because it's made by the "Tuxedo Process" from the finest, choicest leaves of Kentucky Burley—mild, mellow and rich.

This famous process absolutely removes all the bite and sting from the tobacco; Tuxedo can't bite your tongue, no matter if you smoke it all day long and half the night.

Don't bother with Tuxedo imitations. Get the original Tuxedo. If it's worth the other fellows' imitating, it's worth your insisting on!
